

GET YOUR BRAND, EXPERTISE AND CONTACT DETAILS IN FRONT OF LEADING UK BUSINESSES

● About Lore

Lore creates legal solutions by fusing a fusion of legal information and advanced technology to deliver best in class legal resources and intelligence platforms to the desktops of inhouse lawyers, company secretaries and customer service agents.

Our solutions provide businesses with desktop legal know how, resources, templates and training in relation to company law, consumer law, employment law, data protection, litigation and regulatory matters.

Contributor partners

We are looking for contribution partners (Barristers, Solicitors, Legal Executives and other experts) to contribute to Lore Hub.

Lore Hub is legal know how and template resource for in house legal and customer service departments.

The resources are produced by our in house lawyers at Lore and by external professionals. As such, we are now seeking additional contributors to provide:

- Explainer Notes
- Templates
- Q&A's
- Articles

in the following fields:

- Employment law
- Data protection and GDPR
- Intellectual property
- Litigation (small claim and County Court)

Contributors are required to provide a minimum of one resource per month and to keep any explainer notes or templates provided maintained, in accordance with the Lore maintenance program.

We are also looking for contributors to participate in our Podcast program.

Contributor benefits

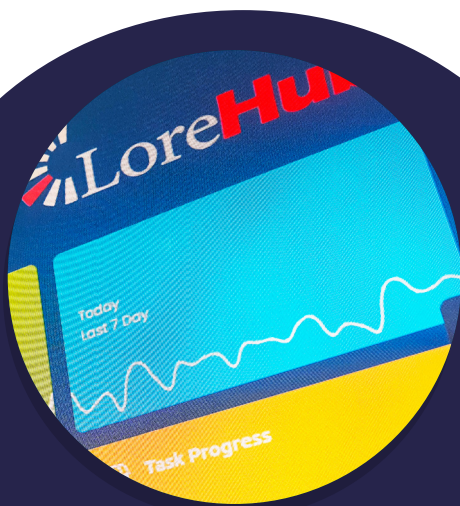

Each resource provided will contain the contributors branding/name and contact details and a website link, therefore putting the contributor in front of businesses customer service and in house legal teams across the UK.

Next steps

If you are interested in your firm or you as an individual becoming a contributor, please email contributors@loreplc.co.uk for further details.
